Monday morning I got an anonymous letter. It was intended to be vicious and cutting. As with all letters I received without signatures, I felt sorry for the coward who wrote it. So I sat down and wrote a serious column, expounding on the commiseration I feel for a person who so tries to live something that he isn't that he writes a letter to the editor without his name.

After I wrote the column I read it over several times and then tore it up. I said to myself, why should I waste time on a track-pot, a miserable coward, a crawling weasel who be-ates me for having the courage of my convictions. I fought for what I believed in in the recent election and I have no apology to make. That individual who wrote the letter would have had his say too, right in this newspaper, if he had only the courage to sign his name. He didn't so that's that. I'm not afraid of what I believe, the anonymous writer is. You be the judge.

Topic of the most conversation around town Tuesday was the mourning wreath sent to me when it was learned that Happy Chandler had won the election. Somebody told me it was there before six o'clock Tuesday morning. I think it was the funniest thing that ever happened to me. I can't quite figure it out though.

Of course I was mighty blue about the election, but surely I was not in mourning. If the folks who sent it to me had any idea that they were sending it to me as a political corpse, they could be wrong. I may be down in the dumps at the moment, but please, don't count me out. The wreath has caused much comment around Commercial Avenue and we've had lots of laughs about it.

For instance one little old lady passed by the office late Tuesday and was started to see the huge wreath in front of the office. She stopped, looked it over and said: "Just looks there, somebody's deed and they're still working." That to me, somehow was a thought-provoking statement. While the campaign is now over and all the issues are dead, we're still working hard and will certainly keep on doing so.

Who knows someday we might have good use for that wreath. Don't know just how it will come in handy but it just might. Right off hand I would say that when the last curtain is drawn on this hectic life of mine and the full and controversial life I've led brings about joy in the lives of some people, that wreath might be the only memento of remembrance my family has to put around the grave. Then again there'll be gratitude for the wreath to show that I might have been counted out, but surely not forgotten.

Defeat of our candidate has been a field day for cowards however. We received a couple of anonymous phone calls daring us to put the paper out this week and then another note, printed by the sender, came Wednesday morning. The latest note invited us to go clean up Happy's swimming pool and extended us a gold card to swim in Happy's swimming pool until 1960.

What our pen pals and callers don't know is that I am not in the least perturbed at their barbs or their threats. If I have the nerve to write what I think, I similarly have the courage to withstand the needling. From those brave folks who think they are irritating me. I think it's funny. Just keep it up.

ELECTION ODDITIES: Heard at the polls Saturday about a man who went into the voting booth and came out and said: "Well I shore got the job done, I put the 'X' by everyone of those names." Fellow brought the ballot boxes in the courthouse and said: "That voter corner sure got a lot of votes out our way." Ro Gardner Hickman editor got one vote for Governor on the Republican ticket.

Golden Glitters Politics is such a torment that I would advise every one I love not to mix with it.

Football At South Fulton To Be Decided Friday Nite; Board Makes Suggestions

Whether or not football will be continued in the South Fulton School this coming year is entirely up to the fans, recommendations of the Obion County School Board indicated. The recommendations of the board were made at a meeting held by that group on Monday of this week at Union City.

Continuance or discontinuance of that sport in the Tennessee school has been the subject of heated controversy among citizens and patrons of the school. In order to assist the citizens in settling the problem, the Obion County School Board took the matter up at their meeting and made three recommendations, which are as follows:

"RECOMMENDATION OF THE OBION COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION AUGUST 8, 1955:

Football will be continued at South Fulton provided the following requirements can be met not later than August 13, 1955:

1. A qualified and certified football coach can be hired at no additional cost to the county.

2. Any individual or group of individuals will underwrite the cost of football in order that it will be self sustaining.

3. The Obion County Board of Education will assume no responsibility for indebtedness incurred by the playing of football, nor will it hold the principal responsible for such indebtedness. Nor expect him to take money from other sources of school income to support football."

In view of the above recommendation, a meeting is to be held at South Fulton High School Friday night, August 12, 1955 at 7:00 p. m. for the purpose of raising funds to carry on football, and also preliminary steps taken to form an athletic association.

The amount of money required to sponsor a football squad will be $1500.00. Of this $1500, there is already purchased equipment for a Junior varsity team and the amount owing is $400. On this, the remaining $900.00 is the expected deficit for the coming year.

If a qualified coach can be found for the regular salary provided by the County Board and if this $1500 can be raised by Saturday night, August 13, football can be continued.

Special Season tickets are printed and will be on sale at offices of Burrow, Cannon and News Editor Jo Westpheling holds the mourning wreath sent her Tuesday morning by a person or persons unknown. The News vigorously supported Judge Bert Combs in the Governor's race and his defeat undoubtedly prompted the sending of the wreath. Counted out in this election but by no means dead is the enthusiasm the News has for fighting for issues in which they believe. The wreath has "Memories" written on a ribbon in gold letters.

LARGE NUMBER OF ENTRIES DELAYS CONTEST WINNER

Essay On Fulton Yet To Be Named By Local Group

The announcement of the winner of the contest "WHY I LIKE TO SHOP IN FULTON" has been delayed, due to the unprecedented number of entries filed on the contest. The large amount of entries, and the fine qualities of the entries has made the job of judging a very difficult one. However, the judges have announced that the name of the winner can be announced the latter part of this current week.

The winner will be given a free hotel bill for one week for two at one of the more famous Miami Beach Hotels, which will be good for any time during the year, except January, February and March.

Counting of the ballots cast in Saturday's primaries continues in some areas of Kentucky, while A. B. (Happy) Chandler continues to hold his lead over his opponent Judge Bert T. Combs by 20,000 votes. Judge Combs supported by the Administration of Governor Lawrence Wetherby took the lead in the first very early hours of the counting, but lost his small margin some three hours after the counting began and never regained it.

In one of the hardest fought campaigns in the history of Kentucky politics, the former Governor, former Senator and former Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler emerges the nominee of the Democratic party and will face Ed Denny, a Republican and Lexington lawyer in the general election in November.

Although generally believed that the Democratic nominee would have tough sledding in November against the Republican candidate, all seems harmonious in the Democratic ranks. Governor Wetherby, Senator Clements, Senator Barkley, Lt. Gov. Doc Beauchamp, Campaign chairman Ramsey Taylor, Henry Ward and a score of others who fought hard against Chandler, have offered their support in November.

The election results to many observers were something of an enigma. For instance in the First District, which Combs supporters generally conceded to Chandler at various stages of the campaign was carried by Combs by 1745 votes, Fulton County, which was claimed by the Chandler group by some 500 vote margin, went to Combs by a total of seven votes. In the City of Fulton there was also speculation among the Chandler supporters that Combs would carry only the Riceville precinct. The vote in the City of Fulton was two to one for Combs.

The City vote was like this:

	Combs	Chandler
Fulton No. 1	131	75
Fulton No. 2	151	78
Fulton 3-A	202	98
Fulton 4-A	132	98
Riceville	112	24

Totals 728 373

In other parts of the State there were up-sets in the Combs camp. For instance the Second District the home of Doc Beauchamp and Senator Clements was expected to give some 10,000 margin to Combs. The margin for Combs was only 3,000. The third district was expected to produce 20,000 majority for Combs; it only produced 12,000 margin. Chandler took the fourth, fifth and sixth districts with 1,000 majority in each.

As predicted Harry Lee Waterfield, Clinton publisher, received a much greater majority in his race for Lieutenant-Governor than did Mr. Chandler. Waterfield's majority was nearly 90,000 votes.

In other races Ray Johnson defeated John Stathon for Circuit Court Clerk of Fulton County; Wayne Freeman defeated

FULTON PROGRESS IS MIRRORED IN WINDOW DISPLAYS

Kentucky Business Features Front Of City Drug Co.

Fulton's progress in remodeling its business district is recognized again; this time in the August issue of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce magazine "Kentucky Business."

The first full-page advertisement in the book shows a good half-page picture of the City Drug Company as a fine example of good store modernization. The wording under the ad (sponsored by the Kentucky Utilities Company) is as follows:

"What's Happening to the 'Show Window'?"

"Once all display windows were very much alike—high beds and enclosed backs. Even today these windows are effective for a wide range of merchandise."

Other merchants have found that the best display window they can have is an unimpeded view of their entire store. The hundreds of square feet of space once taken up by "show windows" have been turned into SALES FLOOR.

Use of the store itself as a vast window display has been made possible by advance in plate glass, in light metals, for framing and in modern, high level lighting. Invariably increased traffic and increased sales have quickly paid the cost of remodeling.

And when merchant, modernize their stores, the entire community benefits. Community development is simply the sum total of individual development. Your community has a Main Street Modernization Program. Ask your local Chamber of Commerce about it."

Fulton can be proud of the many new store fronts which have been installed in the past several years; and particularly can be proud that one of its stores is being used as a fine example of store modernization.

The Majority of the People Elected Chandler As the Democratic Nominee; We Accept the Edict And Put Away All Bitterness of the Campaign

In this torrid campaign to select a Democratic nominee for Governor here in Fulton County we won the battle but lost the victory. Bert T. Combs, the candidate for Governor whom we supported vigorously, won in this county by only seven votes, but the smallness of the margin, had no comparison to the magnitude of the significance of Combs winning in this county.

It would be sheer dishonesty to tell you that we are not keenly disappointed in the outcome of the election. As we reflect on the progress of the campaign, especially in the closing days, we would be less than honest if we did not admit that we saw Bert Combs headed for defeat. In spite of the campaign we fought to get him elected, we never underestimated the ability of Happy Chandler as the most able vote-getter that Kentucky has seen in many a day. He was a formidable candidate, if not always a truthful one.

We cannot help but concur in the statement made some weeks ago by an editor closely identified with the Chandler headquarters. He said: "There's nobody for Happy Chandler, but the people." The statement meant of course that in the Combs camp were the biggest names in Democratic political circles . . . Barkley, Clements, Wetherby, Beauchamp, Donaldson, Underwood, Ward and a score of others. Nearly 80 per cent of the Democratic newspapers in Kentucky were for Bert Combs. A large portion of labor, education, and civic leaders, including John L. Lewis, Wendell Butler and many others supporters of Judge Combs.

But it may be recalled now that perhaps the support of all these leaders may have been our undoing. The association of so many "big names" in one camp did not lend toward unity. Each of the influential leaders in the Combs camp were persons with individual views and individual followings and as a result of that we lacked the unity, the coordination, the determination of purpose.

Two things stand out with us as the basic reasons for the defeat of Bert Combs. One was the support of John Young Brown and the sales tax yoke that was harnessed around Bert Combs and the other was the lack of a real close knit state organization. In the waning days of the campaign we could see the desperate efforts made to overcome what, in our estimation, was the hand-writing on the wall.

In getting the support of all these big names in Democratic circles it must be remembered too that Bert Combs inherited the enemies of each of these parties. Some of those enemies are bitter and lasting and while many people believed in the ability of Bert Combs they could not easily vote for him with the stamp of approval from an enemy on him. So they voted against him. And that was a sad and discouraging situation.

Support of Happy Chandler with many, many people is not a frame of mind . . . it's an emotion. They like his gregarious personality, they like his grin, his hand-shake, his promises to take them from out of political apathy. And at that Happy is a past master of the art.

But in the defeat of Bert Combs we offer congratulations to Happy Chandler and to his running mate Harry Lee Waterfield who came into political prominence in this election on his own cognizance. Undoubtedly Harry Lee will be Governor some day.

We fought a hard battle for Bert Combs and we have no apologies to make. Here in Fulton County friends, church members and business leaders were on different sides of the fence and there were bad feelings lots of times among them. But the election is over now. We have to live together side by side and now is the time to let by-gones be by-gones and let's get back to the local issues at hand.

As a Kentuckian we intend to be a loyal Kentuckian. We intend to stand by the Legislative bodies of our state in their efforts to put Kentucky among the best States in the Nation. We intend to cooperate with the leaders in Kentucky in their efforts to bring about a better program for education, for the farmer, for the businessman, for the working man. Maybe we are a little too resilient, but already we have forgotten the bitterness of the campaign and we are ready to tackle other jobs that need our help. We hope you will forget the bitterness too. After all it was an election to which the people voted to select the candidate of their choice. In the Governor's race Happy Chandler was the choice of the largest number of people in Kentucky and by virtue of that edict he is the Democratic nominee. We accept it. We wish him much luck in his endeavors and we extend our hand in cooperation that he may prayerfully and thoughtfully fulfill the promises he made to the people of Kentucky to make them a good Governor, if he is elected in November.

Liberty Is A Christian Heritage

By Carleton J. H. Hayes, Former Professor of History, Columbia University
IN OUR CENTURY, tyrants of peculiarly menacing character have arisen within, as well as outside, the Western world. They are new Genghis Khans; and on an everbroadening front they have mercilessly assailed the whole ideal of human freedom.

But the startling setback to liberty in our generation is due only in part to the strength and determination of its acknowledged foes. It is due also to a weakening of devotion and effort on the part of its traditional friends.

I WOULD REMIND YOU that our American coins still emblazon the word "Liberty" and along with it the legend "In God We Trust," and as yet the Supreme Court has not ruled that a violation of our constitutional principle of the separation of church and state. There has been a long and close connection between the liberty we have striven for in our Western Civilization and the Christian Faith by which our ancestors were inspired.

Personally, I must confess a conviction, derived not only from faith but from historical study, that wherever Christian ideals have been generally accepted and their practice sincerely attempted, there is dynamic liberty; and that wherever Christianity has been ignored or rejected, persecuted or chained to the state, there is tyranny. Our liberty and its Christian basis are indeed inseparable.

THIS WAS significantly recognized by Hitler and has been systematically acted upon by the Communist regime in the Kremlin and its satraps abroad. They are sure of enslaving a nation if they gag or imprison clergymen, close churches and de-Christianize the youth.

Liberty, in its Christian context, has always been a stimulant to independent thinking and an antidote to collective apathy. We need a rebirth of freedom now. I have such deep-seated faith in the Christian doctrine of the nature and dignity of man that I believe he will rise again in revolt and free himself from the despotisms of the present age.

IN THE PRESENT CRITICAL AGE, we need faith, not merely in ourselves or in progress. We need a renewed faith in God and in human brotherhood under God. We need Christian hope to temper and supplant our present fears and our tendency to despair about what the present world is coming to. Above all we need the charity of Christ. Still most pertinent to our civilization is what the Apostle of the Gentiles wrote nineteen centuries ago: "Faith, hope, and charity persist, all three; but the greatest of them all is charity."

All men make mistakes, but a good man yields when he knows he is wrong. —Sophocles

He that never changes his opinions, never corrects his mistakes, and will never be wiser on the morrow than he is to-day.

Even a mild mistake must be seen as a mistake, in order to be corrected.

My Town of Hickman, Ky. Has Two Faces - - Let's Look At Both

The News deems it a privilege to reprint herewith a letter to the Editor of the Memphis Press-Scimitar by Mrs. Lillian Holland, a resident of Hickman, Ky. Mrs. Holland tells in a well-chosen words the real picture of her home-town on the river as compared to the picture given recently in several articles carried by that Memphis paper. It is a wonderful letter and we are pleased to print it . . .

The Editor, Memphis Press-Scimitar: Recently your paper carried a series of articles telling about certain conditions existing in Fulton County and particularly in Hickman, Ky.

This was printed in "News Week" and spread far and wide. It seems to me that it is adverse publicity to take our local problems outside, just as our national problems may seem strange and would cause us to be misunderstood abroad, if we published them outside.

So many people who were born here or have relatives here, read the Memphis papers, we know that anything wrong here, would cause them sorrow.

Will you then, please permit me the space in your paper to tell of the other side of the story or how my town looks to me?

My town has two faces. Each wears a different expression. One is wry, unpleasant and worried by the problems of the atomic age. The other, gentle, beautiful and benign.

My Town sprawls along the shore of the Mississippi River, in the flat semi-tropical land, then adventurously climbs the tall hills to the bluff overlooking the river, where there are many beautiful homes. A flood-wall protects the lowland from the now quiescent but often turbulent and dangerous stream. It is a place of sharp contrasts, so it depends on where one stands what he sees. If he is "sitting in the seat of the scornful," he may see only those who "walk-eth in the ways of the wicked."

For My Town, like the lives of the people who inhabit it, is filled with contradictions—the good and the bad. The moods of the river affect our personalities, offering food and life to some and destruction to others, but beauty and grandeur to all.

To those who call My Town "Home" or who may have called it home, may I say that the it may seem shoddy and down at the heels in some places, the spires of its many churches still point upward to God, and goodness still abides in unexpected places. Our sons and daughters often go out from this town to occupy high places in the nation's business, in the world of science, philosophy and religion. Many of the leading men and women in far flung places have called this Hickman "Home." Many, having made the supreme sacrifice, sleep in foreign soil. They, too, came from the small community, so recently reviled and portrayed—or should I say "betrayed"—by a periodical of nation-wide scope. To you who are away, may it always be a place you love and to which you long to return. You will not find the glamor the cities of the world have offered you, in the fields of art, music, learning and what is known as culture. But to tired hearts weary of troubles real and fancied, it is a place where someone really cares about you and for you. Here you will find compassion, sympathy and understanding and helping hands to lift or to guide you over rough places, and on ordinary faces the sweetest, friendliest smiles this side of heaven.

To a city bred person or one not familiar with our customs, the neighborliness found in our small agricultural community, may seem noisy and back-woodsy. We are still a long way from "Tobacco Road."

While we may seem apathetic or indifferent, could it be that an overwhelming sense of insecurity which seems to have engulfed our whole civilization has made all else seem small and minor in comparison? The Sword of Damocles, modern style, the H-bomb casts a pall over all of us. Have we perhaps momentarily forgotten that there is Balm in Gilead and a Remedy for this paralysis of fear? If God be for us, who can be against us? So to you who are away remember, also, that the unusual not the ordinary is news. Daily lives of the ordinary person are good and kind. They can be seen and felt, but no one cares to read of them. Wrong doors stand out like four leaf clovers in a field of three leaf clover, altho the latter represents the blessed Trinity. And Judas was one of 12.

My Town, my beloved small town is like a little boy with a black eye singing anthems in a effort. It is an angel with a dirty face.

WIN JIM PRYOR
Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

These are busy days on the farm. Crops have been "laid by" and there is very little done to them until harvest.

There remains much work to be done however. Hay fields are now ready for harvest. Mowers, hay rakes and balers are very busy. Much hay has already been harvested and lots more is about ready. Present indications are that we will have a bumper hay crop this year. Livestock farmers are happy about such reports. During the past three years, it was difficult to have enough hay to get through the winter on and in many cases, hay was shipped in from other areas to keep livestock going. Such is not the case this year and there are a number who have already filled their lots and have said that they will have hay for sale.

From reports received throughout the mid-south area, it looks as though the price of hay will be much lower than usual. Top grade alfalfa is selling for much less than has been the case in many years. The same will no doubt be true of Lespedeza and other legume hays.

Some farmers could easily add some more livestock and no doubt gain, rather than sell at such low prices. Too, there are those who could easily buy some dairy or beef breeding stock that is young and grow it on the cheap hay that will be stored or sold for little of no thing. Such young stock can be bought in other areas and it would behoove many of you to look into the situation before selling or losing such an abundant hay crop by not harvesting it.

FROM THE FILES: TURNING BACK THE CLOCK

Aug. 29, 1930

Fulton County Fair Week got off with a good start. The weather hasn't been any too good but a large crowd has been on hand.

The harness races are probably better this season than they have been for some years. The track on the first day was said to have been faster than for a number of seasons, and showed the care and work that had been expended on it.

The revival will begin at the First Methodist Church on September seventh. Dr. A. W. Myers of Gainesville, Fla. is one of the outstanding preachers of the Florida Conference, will do the preaching. Mr. H. M. Scott will be the song leader for the revival.

Contractors are now at work with large crews surfacing the Fulton-Martin Highways with concrete. When completed this will give Fulton another concrete surfaced highway.

Work on concrete surfacing highway 51 between Fulton and Wickliffe is progressing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Cooke and family spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cooke.

Mr. Coy Putman and Miss Clevis Bard returned home last week after attending school at Murray State Teacher's College.

This is the BEFORE AND AFTER picture of all time. The photo at left is the old William Nolen home, built about 1875 on Carr Street. The weeds had grown up until the house was hardly visible. But Boy Scout Troop 43 of the Methodist Church fixed that as their good turn for the day. They went over there last Wednesday and worked like beavers until the yard today looks like the photo at right. Will Adams, a grand-son of the late Mr. Nolen now resides in the home.

In 1800, eleven long flatboats, carrying settlers and their livestock westward, were tied up for the night along the Kentucky shore of the Ohio River. Came the next morning and the pioneers saw the land before them. They liked it so well that they came ashore and founded Fredericksburg, which is now Warsaw, county seat of Gallatin County.

Today, Gallatin County is an agricultural area, raising tobacco, truck produce and fine dairy herds. But there is always the majestic Ohio, flowing by, to remind the residents of Gallatin County's riverfront beginning, when boatbuilding and river traffic were the region's economic lifeblood.

Many citizens of Gallatin County, past and present, have always enjoyed an occasional glass of beer—the beverage of moderation. The sale of beer under orderly conditions is an important objective of your brewing industry. Our continuing educational program helps beer retailers maintain their high standards.

PLANNING MEETING HELD BY FULTON COUNTY HOME MAKERS JULY 28TH

A modern homemaker is expected to fill many different roles in her job of wife and mother. One of the most important of these is being a business partner to her husband. Miss Francis Stallard, Home Management Specialist, from the University of Kentucky, pointed out several ways the family will benefit if the wife is familiar with business details. When she met with the Planning Committee Thursday, July 28th to discuss the new program for Fulton County Homemakers for 1955-56.

A most interesting and educational program on money management was planned and enthusiastically received by all committee members present. The lesson will begin in October with a most important one, "What Every Homemaker Should Know about Kentucky Laws" and will include discussion of property rights, deeds and wills. The second lesson "Getting More for Your Money" will help the homemakers outline a plan for income according to what she must have, what she needs to have, and what she wishes to have and will also include Social Security and Income tax details. Lesson three, "It Pays to Buy Wisely" will help the homemaker in choosing the best products for the money invested. Lesson four on "Banking Procedure" will explain every phase of banking, such as making out deposit slips, the use of checking accounts and safety deposit boxes. The fifth lesson on "Insurance as Future Security," should be of vast interest to everyone. Kind of insurance available and how to purchase it to the best advantage will be discussed. The sixth and last lesson should be a big help to all those who have spent hours looking for an important document or receipt, for it is "The Convenient Business Center" and will explain filing of paper and how to keep things in order and at your fingertips.

Valuable lessons such as these are what makes the Homemakers organization such an important influence in the lives of the members. Now is a good time for those who are not in the club and are interested to become members and benefit from these lessons.

Those attending the Planning Meeting along with Home Demonstrator Agent, Mrs. Bertha McLeod were, Mrs. Charlie Latius, Mrs. Walter Mays, Mrs. Robert Adams, Mrs. Harold Copeland, Mrs. Reginald Williamson, Mrs. Nelson Hickerson and Mrs. Albert Moss.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by Marie Holland

Home Demonstrator Kentucky Utilities

Keep your mixer where it can be seen and easily reached. This extra pair of hands with muscles, as it has been called, should be on the job as often as there is a pie and biscuit dough to blend, eggs to beat, potatoes to mash, juices to mix, and vegetables, meats and nuts to chop. With one beat-er removed, egg-nogs and milk shakes can be whipped up in a jiffy. And now that most mixers have removable heads, they can work for you right at hand.

This could go on and on, with an especially broad hint about keeping vacuum cleaner attachments in sight, in mind and in use. Let them take over on particularly thankless jobs such as dusting radiators, venetian blinds, hard to reach moldings, and cleaning upholstered furniture, lamp shades and draperies.

So give the steam iron a few odd jobs to do—such as raising nap on suede shoes and velvet, pressing veils and freshening ribbons.

This round-up won't come as news to those already wise to the ways of these rugged and tireless homemakers - helpers. But all too many of us either from forgetfulness or force of habit are giving appliances only part-time work to do. Still others, especially the "Ginny-complex" to the homemaking ranks, are unaware of the capabilities of the appliances they receive as wedding gifts.

So be this a fresher, eye-opener or an old-story, it proves the point I'm driving at: To own appliances without putting them on a full-time basis is a needless waste of a homemaker's time, energy and investment. It is abuse, NOT USE, that makes appliances old before their time.

A friend is someone who does not fail to support you when the "crowd" begins to pick the carcass. They are few.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Scriptural selections from the King James Version of the Bible stress the supremacy of spiritual power and the account of Christ Jesus feeding the multitude as recorded by Matthew (14:14-20) and John's account (6:16-21) of Jesus walking on the sea.

Among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following (273:21-26): "God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law. If there were such a material law, it would oppose the supremacy of Spirit, God, and impugn the wisdom of the creator. Jesus walked on the waves, fed the multitude, healed the sick, and raised the dead in direct opposition to material laws."

Miss Pat McKenzie Weds Leroy Hicks In Ceremony Last Sunday In Cornith, Mississippi

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McKenzie, of 413 Fairview, Fulton, Ky., announce the marriage of their daughter, Patricia Gayle, to Corporal Leroy Hicks of the U. S. Marine Corps. The groom is the son of Mrs. Horace Lynch of Harris, Tenn. and Mr. Andrew Hicks of Fulton, Ky.

The ceremony was solemnized August the seventh in Cornith, Miss., at 9 o'clock in the morn-

Kay Cherry's Town Talk

Fulton is buzzing again. Summer school is out and all of the students have returned home. Every where you look you will see a group of girls and boys laughing and talking over the events of the summer.

Among those returning home from summer school, I am sure one of the proudest is Nancy Wilson. Nancy has received her degree from the University of Kentucky. Mary Davis Weeks and Jan. White have also returned home from U. of K. Those returning home from Murray are Jeff Lester, Jean Hyland, Roma Satterfield, Jack Thorpe, James Windsor, Dawson Huddleston, Jack Voegeli, and Vivian Matlock.

They say with every sweet, there is a little bitter and this is certainly true in Beverly Cursey's case. Beverly has just graduated from Hawkins School of Medical Technology and has accepted a position at Choctaw ton was the bride's only attendant. Her dress was of navy tucked cotton worn with white accessories, and she pinned a corsage of white carnations at her shoulder. The groom chose Mr. Joe Welch of Fulton, as his attendant. Others present for the ceremony were Mrs. W. R. McKenzie, mother of the bride, Mrs. Joe Welch, and Mr. Bob Koloski.

The bride is a 1953 graduate of Fulton High School and the groom is also a 1953 graduate of South Fulton High School. The couple will reside at Millington, where the groom is stationed.

A luncheon at The Hut in Jackson, Tennessee was a courtesy extended to the bridal party by the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Ragan, on their return trip from Cornith, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. King Married In Lovely Ceremony At Owensboro

Miss Mary Onstott, daughter of Mrs. Herman Onstott, Owensboro, Ky. and Virgil King Jr., son of Mrs. Virgil King, Fulton, were married at the First Presbyterian Church, Owensboro, at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, July 10. Rev. John C. McQueen, pastor, officiated.

Attendants were Mrs. Robert Lowe, sister of the bride, matron of honor and Robert Boyd, best man. Eugene Lashbrook and Raymond Schreck were ushers.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed before a background of white gladioli and lighted cathedral candles.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss

County Hospital, Ackerman, Miss. She is, thrilled with her work and the modern hospital where she is now employed, but will certainly miss not being here for the Voegeli-Powell wedding. Winkle and Beverly were close friends, all through school, and it is certainly a disappointment to miss the event. We know that Beverly will go far in her new work and wish her all of the success in the world.

Mrs. Ernest Jenkins was hostess to a dinner party at 6:30 Wednesday evening honoring Miss Winkle Voegeli, bride-elect of Glenn Ray Powell. This will be the first of many pre-nuptial parties being held in Winkle's honor.

Gladys and Bob Hyland are really jumping everytime the phone rings. The cause for their sudden interest in answering the phone so quickly is due to the fact that they are expecting a call from their son Johnny. Johnny is on his way home from overseas and is expected to land in San Francisco on August 10. From there he will go to Camp Chaffee for a discharge, and should arrive in Fulton about August 15.

I'm sure that Gilson, Mary and Ann Latta are having a wonderful time while vacationing in Colorado Springs.

Speaking of good times, that's just exactly what Danny and Joann Bird had this week end. Danny and Joann went to Jackson where they met their good friend Dr. Bob Stanworth. From there they went to Pickwick Dam and had a nice overnight trip down the lake on a cruiser.

Maxwell and Ruby McDade entertained the young peoples class of the Christian Church and their guests with a picnic at Kentucky Lake. Riding on the cruiser, water skiing and swimming was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. B. A. Partee and daughter Dottie of Trenton will be visitors in Fulton this week. Mrs. Partee will visit her sister Ruby McDade. Dottie will be a guest of Ann Fall.

Other popular visitors seen here last week were Bill and Barbara Browning from Lexington, Jean Thompson of Humbolt, Pat Blankenship of Memphis and Millie McDade of Mayfield.

I hear that Doris and Francis Campbell are really enjoying the new baby they recently adopted. This isn't hard to understand as it is such a fine looking boy.

Edra Earl and Gene Hillard had a gathering of the Hillard family at their home on Walnut Street Sunday.

Miss Vivian Matlock bride elect of James Carter will be honored with a cake party given by Miss Winkle Voegeli at her Burrow, across from South Fulton City Hall until 5:00 p. m. on Saturday. The price of these special season tickets $10.00. In event the principal amount is not raised by the deadline, money on the tickets will be refunded on surrender of the purchased ticket.

Each person interested in the future of South Fulton High School athletics is urged to attend this important meeting.

Meanwhile the News has learned the identity of the person writing the letter to the editor concerning a news story published in this paper recently on the matter and the News gladly publishes it herewith:

July 31st, 1955
Fulton, County News,
Fulton, Kentucky

I've just finished reading your article on our South Fulton School. I am sending four children to South Fulton so I'm interested.

Since your article was rather vague as to whose views you were publishing, I'd like for you to publish a few facts. Since Mr. Burrow has been at South Fulton there have been a great many improvements made. We didn't get our new gymnasium by just wishing for it. We parents know that Mr. Burrow worked hard to help get both the new gymnasium and the new cafeteria. We know too, that both Mr. Burrow and Mr. Phipps are very co-operative in everything that really benefits the school or the students.

The school has lost hundreds of dollars every year it has tried to have football. Only a few boys get any benefit out of football whereas basketball is a very popular sport that practically all can participate in. The money made on basketball every year has helped offset our football losses.

Regardless of what a few football fans want, the majority of the people in South Fulton are a lot more interested in the scholastic achievements of their children than they are in their athletic powers. If enough students were interested in football, we'd have football, but as long as the boys aren't really interested in the game and their parents don't want them to play, how can we have a team?

Can't help but wonder where all those fans were during our last football season?

* Election

Feated George Brand for State Senator; Jack Johnson defeated Elbert Mills for State representative and Frank Stubblefield defeated E. A. McKinney for railroad commissioner.

Other State winners are: Jo Ferguson, attorney general; Mary Louise Fous, auditor; Ben Butler, secretary of agriculture; Robert Martin, superintendent of education; Charles K. O'Connell, clerk of the court appeals; Henry Carter, state treasurer; the secretary of state's post is still undecided with Mrs. Thelma Stovall in the lead.

Splinter of the First District campaign was focused on Graves County, where Willie Foster, clothing manufacturer broke with the Wetherby Administration to support Chandler. Amidst a hard campaign Chandler carried that county by only 1458 votes, although it was believed early in the campaign that the Foster interest in Chandler would give Chandler a whopping majority not only in Graves County, but in the District as well. Combs carried the First District.

* Scoreboard

scored three runs in the seventh. The rest of the week Fulton has been idle.

Tuesday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock the Fulton Lookouts played some of the local talent. The score was 5 to 2 in favor of the Lookouts. The crowd was good and the game was enjoyed a lot. In fact that wasn't a bad score for a team that didn't get to practice together. Some of the familiar faces that played were: Smokie Irtindola, Billy Ayers, Billy Joe Forrest, Skinner Ruddle, Sammy Haddad, James Mann, Smokie Mann, the Holland brothers, and lots of others.

The umpires for the game were Jack Graves and Butch Simons.

Little League
Last Thursday the Little League teams had a red hot game at the Little League Park. The Cardinals defeated the Pepsi Cola Team with a 3-2 victory. A good crowd was on hand and the new bleachers were filled with fans.

The Pepsi Cola line up follows: Sullivan 1b, Boar ss, Beedles 2b, Allen p, Carter rf, Brooks lf, Williams c, Hudson 3b, Roper, cf, Elliott lb.

The Cardinal line up Harwood 2b, Benedict ss, Winston 1b, Shuck p, Callahan cf, Merryman lf, John Hunter c, Chris Hunter 3b, Robbins rf.

Monday the Yankees and the Cardinals saw plenty of action as the Yankees defeated the Cardinals, by a score of six to two.

The line up for the Yankees: Jeffress 2b, Borden p, Oliver rf, Sullivan 1b, Warren c, B Mann ss, J. Williams lf, J. Mann cf, and substitute, R. Fry.

The Yankee line up was the same as on Thursday with Williams doing the job behind the plate as catcher.

Today the Yankees and the Pepsi Cola and Wade Furniture Co teams at 5:00 p. m.

Purchase League
Sunday afternoon the Pilot Oak team defeated the Hickory team in a well played game. The score was Pilot Oak 11, Hickory 7.

J. B. Fulcher and Robert Moore pitched a no hitter. This is the only no hitter that has been pitched in the Purchase League since it has been organized five years ago.

Hickory's run was scored by Fulcher walking a guy and then stole second and the third baseman for Pilot Oak made an error.

Moore got four hits for the winners to take hitting honors. Williams was second with three hits.

THANKS

I wish to thank my many friends in Fulton and Hickman Counties for the fine majority you gave me on Saturday, August 6 in my race for State Representative. I will always be grateful to you.
